The month at Oyster Bay has been a quiet one, so far as social functions among the smart set are concerned. The President and other members of the family find recreation in riding and boating principally. No matter how exacting his duties may be, the President does not neglect his daily exercises, although the number of visitors at Sagamore Hill is far greater this year than ever before.

William Loeb, Jr., secretary to the President, and Mrs. Loeb have returned from their Lake George vacation, and are now at the Thompson cottage.

Is the joy of the household, for without it no happiness can be complete. How sweet the picture of mother and babe, angels smile at and commend the thoughts and aspirations of the mother bending over the cradle. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, how-ever, is so full of danger and suffering that she looks forward to the hour when she shall feel the exquisite thrill of motherhood with indescribable dread and fear. Every woman should know that the danger, pain and horror of child-birth can be entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, a scientific liniment for external use only, which toughers and rendere pliable all the parts, and work. By its aid thousands of women hav passed this great crisis in perfect safety and without pain. Sold at $1.00 per bottle by druggists. Our book of priceless bottle by druggists. Our book of priceless value to all women sent free. Address the Taussig cottage. A. W. Taussig, who arrived on the 19, has returned to 8t. Louis.

The Jamestown season is drawing to a close and from a business point of view it has been disappointing. The cottages have been mostly occupied, but the hotels will have a very small margin of profit to live on through a long winter. As for the visitors, they have all enjoyed themselves in their own way.

The Jamestown Improvement Society, which has done good work this year, is sending out an aspeal to the residents and summer visitors for funds to continue the work of the organization. By awakening a spirit of emulation, it is hoped that householders will be interested not only in keeping their grounds in good condition, but to beantify them with flowers, shrubs and hedges.

The following is the standing of the boats of the Conanicut Yacht Club in the serial races, for which prizes will be given in the various classes at the end of the season, first place counting 5 points, second 3, and third 1: Amanita, 5, Q. 19: Skraeling, 11: Gadfly, 13: Vanda, 5: Catoline, 21: Nassau, 14: Niobrara, 13: Wabun, 11: Shadow, 11: Tarantula, 5.

At the Jamestown Golf and Counter Club the finals in the mixed doubles have not yet been played. The weather and the tennis tournament at Newport in which every one was interested caused more or less delay early in the tournament. In the men's doubles, several games were completed last week. In the first round R. L. Abeles and E. G. Bartels beat Mr. Jackson and C. A. Darling, 5-3, 6-3; C. E. Van Vleck, Jr., and Mr. Judson beat

THREE PRETTY GIRLS TRAVEL AS FREIGHT.

They Miss Their Regular Train for Long Beach and Ride on . Beer Kegs.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. New York, Sept. 5.-Three of the prettiest girls who are attending the Merrick camp meetings at Merrick, L. I., went over to Long Beach on a freight They perched themselves high on several score of beer kegs and rode over to the beach in triumph. The three are Adelaide Valette, Clara Henniesman and Fanny Noitelle. The girls are stopping at the camp-meeting grounds, and took ac tive part in the religious services.

They left the quiet little village of Merrick to go to Long Beach for a day by brook, L. I., where a change is made to the train which runs to Long Beach. Arricing at Lynbrook, the girls found that they had missed the train for the beach, and as there would not be another in several hours they looked about for means of transportation. No carriage could be procured, and the road to the beach is a long and dusty one. The girls made up their minds to wait for the arrival of the next train, when a freight train bound for the beach with the supplies for the hotels and cottages came along. It stopped at Lynbrook long enough to drop off several packages.

Miss Valette suggested the idea that they go over to the beach as freight. The girls wore handsome foulard gowns and picture hats and carried green parasols.

In an instant the three surrounded the conductor and made their plea for transportation. The conductor at first shook his head, declaring that it was as much as his job was worth to take passengers on his train. The girls continued their pleadings, however, and soon induced him to carry them to the beach.

The girls were helped into a large box car which was half loaded with beer barries. They took seats on top of the kegs and started off for the beach amid the applause of the villagers.

When they arrived at the Long Beach station the girls were given another round of applause and went to the beach. They returned in the evening on the regular train. the train which runs to Long Beach. Ar-ricing at Lynbrook, the girls found that they had missed the train for the beach,

HE HAD HIS HAIR CUT FOR FIRST TIME IN 50 YEARS.

Said He Couldn't Afford to Pay a Barber to Shear Him.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Bowling Green, O., Sept. 5.-The man without a barber came into Bowling Green and for the first time in fifty years experienced the joys of a hair cut and a shave. Lucius Holdover is his name and he wandered into Bowling Green from the vicinity of Eagleville. He was standing on the street when he was spied by a cition the street when he was spied by a citizen, who asked him why he never got his hair cut.

Mr. Holdover replied that money was short with him if his hair was long, and that he never in his life had been so prosperous that he felt like spanding money for a hair cut. The citizen thereupon offered to pay the expense attendant upon getting Lucius sheared and led him to a near-by barber shop.

The barber almost fainted when he saw his subject, and after a vain attempt to get through Lucius's long locks with the shears and a comb. the barber took a pair of good, strong clippers and soon had Lucius parted from his bushy locks, which had hung far down over his shoulders.

Lucius says that he cannot remember when he was in a berber shop before. He looked at the place with a dubious air and was uneasy when the clipper began to sever his wealth of curis from his head. He felt of his smooth, clipped scalp wonderingly and examined with interest the clippers.

He said that he felt as giddy as a 2-year-old when he got out of the barber's chair, and with the air of a man in a dream wandered off down the street followed by a crowd.

GIRLS' COLLEGE FOR THE STUDY OF GIRLS.

New York Millionaire Says His Institution Will Teach Woman to Know Themselves.

New York, Sept. 5.-William Smith Geneva's millionaire nurseryman, who is to build a college for young women, outlined the scope of the institution. Mr. Smith said that the institution is not for young women to learn Latin, Greek or mathematics. "The college will teach young women nature," said Mr. Smith. 'I believe every young woman should know as much about herself as a man does about himself. I want my institution to be a place where a young woman can come and be finished for a proper start in the struggle of life. Not only domestic science, but the study of the body, morals, the soul, etc., will come in the curriculum of study. The girl will be taught right living and to realize her possibilities.

"What better coes she need for a fair start than health, intelligence, spirituality? Given these she can conquer the world. The proper and practical arts of homekeeping, maternity and training of pure womanbood is the aim of the college. The maiden, innocent but no longer ignorant, will then know how to select her mate and her culture will aid her in the training of children.

Mr. Smith believes in the American home, and it is his sole desirs to teach the American mothers of the future. Contracts for the big buildings of the college are soon to be let.

Mr. Smith is 55 years old,, hale and hearty, and his whole being is wrapped up in the institution that will perpetuate his name. know as much about herself as a man

CORPULENT WOMAN TAKEN TO JAIL IN BEER WAGON.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Sept. 5-Mrs. Jane McMurray, an aged widow, was assaulted and seriously injured by her daughter, Edith and Mrs. Margaret Klafker. Mrs.

Edith and Mrs. Margaret Klafker. Mrs. McMurray called lustily for the police. and Policeman Jacob Justis arrived just in time to arrest Mrs. Klafker, Miss McMurray having fled.

Mrs. Klafker resisted arrest and refused to go to jail when handcuffed, lying upon the sidewalk and defying the officer to take her. As she weighs nearly 20 pounds Policeman Justis did not care to attempt carrying her to the county jail, a distance of nearly half a mile, and telephoned for Marshal Theo. Crusse. When the Marshal arrived Mrs. Klafker proved too much for their united efforts, and Marshal Crusse procured two horses from fire company No. 2 and hitched them to a beer wagon.

Mrs. Klafker was placed in the wagon.

OUT OF PRISON AFTER TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS.

New Things I See Don't Surpris Me." Says Fredenburgh, Who Read the Newspapers.

New York, Sept. 5.-Albert Fredepburgh who had been locked up in Auburn Prison for twenty-seven years, one month and sixteen days, refused to be surprised at anything when he was released, after re-celving the Governor's pardon. As he waited at the railroad station for train to take him back to Herkimer, his old home, he said: "My age is doubled and the world has changed, and it feels strange to be out here waiting for a train, but I am not surprised at the new things I see. I've known We read the newspapers and hear of things and see pictures of them, and it is not much different from seeing them. I've never seen a street car before, but its appearance is just as I expected, and I know pearance is just as I expected, and I know how it is operated. I'm a sick man, and all I want is to get home. I don't know whom I'll see there."

Fredenburgh has served the longest time of any Auburn Prison inmate. He and his mother were convicted of the murder of Oria Davis, in Herkimer, and were sentenced to be hanged, but Governor Tilden commuted the penalty to life imprisonment. Mrs. Fredenburg died in prison.

imprisonment. Mrs. Fredenburg died in prison.

It was Fredenburg's daughter who convicted them. She was implicated and turned State's evidence. She said Davis, who lived with them, was killed with an axe by the old woman, while her father held the lamp.

Fredenburgh was accompanied by Waltz Bullock of Herkimer, whose father believed in Fredenburgh's innocense, and who, when about to die, made his son promise to secure Fredenburgh's liberation.

Before leaving the prison Fredenburgh bade his associates good-by and gave $5 to Habile Saad, an Arabian convict, who had been kind to him.

Fredenburgh had $1.12.19 coming to him, most of it pension money, which he receives at the rate of $12 mouthly. He is partly paralyzed and was carried to the train.

SAILORS KILL BIG SWORDFISH Remarkable Fishing Trip of Schooner Marion E. Turner.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. sess, irritability, and, indeed, often results in Bangor, Me., Sept. 5.-When the fishing schooner Marion E. Turner arrived at Vinalhaven this week from the Grand Banks, she had on deck a gigantic swordfish, sixteen feet long, with a four-foot sword and a tail four feet wide.

Captain Turner says that after leaving Sable Island he was followed by two small from the island he noticed a big swordfish in the schooner's wake. The fish was so in the schooner's wake. The fish was so large that both Captain and crew became nervous and threw overboard a lot of fish, thinking thereby to divert the monster's attention and throw him off the track. This did not succeed, and Captain Turner decided to try a harpoon.

On the second throw the iron was firmly imbedded in the side of the swordfish. Four men with Captain Turner quickly jumped into a dory as the big fish dived for the britiom. It required nearly three hours to kill the fish.

On the same trip the Turner lost her fog hem overboard and picked it up fifty hours later. She brought in a full fare of codfish, and Captain Turner says it was the lucklest trip he ever made.
